Project Title: Online Course for Librarians and Libraries in Latin America

1. Progress of Project

Please write 2-3 paragraphs on how your project is progressing including outcomes, challenges, upcoming plans, etc.

This project is collaboratively developed among the Colombian, Uruguayan and Salvadoran chapters. From August to December 2013, we successfully completed the content development that comprises the nine modules of this course, that we titled "Copyright's ABC for librarians in Latin America".

Until mid-December we will be finalizing the teaching and legal reviewing process. The first ensures that we will not miss any valuable help for strengthening self-learning by all potential students; the second is required for contextualizing accurately and clearly cases of each theme to Latin American reality. We are also working on building a communication strategy, which will be essential once the course is published in the P2PU for disseminating and calling for interested participants. We have already developed the graphic concept of this course. Currently, we are in the process of creating other graphics to supplement some of the most complex subjects. Our challenge is to complete the reviews, artwork and communication strategy by December.

2. Report Against Timeline

Let us know where you are in your timeline. If anything is behind or ahead of schedule, please describe further.

According to the agreed work-plan, we can say that we are up to date. The only planned change so far has to do with the pilot's implementation date. This is due to the fact that we did not anticipated the process of material reviewing by the School of Open and Creative Commons at the time the project was proposed. Now, understanding that this review is paramount before the course's launch, we have postponed the pilot's implementation until January 2013. In parallel, the communication strategy must be implemented later on. Thus, according to the project's work-plan, by January and February 2013 we will conclude the pending and planned activities: pilot conducting, communication strategy's implementation and the e-book publication. These mean that all in all there will be no request for extra time.

3. Budget Spent

Please note: this section is only required if there is a discrepancy greater than 10% of the proposed budget.

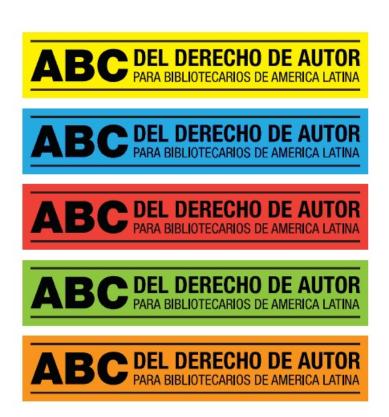

Please outline where you are in your budget, how much money has been spent, what the money was used for, and a detail of upcoming spending plans.

We do not have discrepancies in excess of 10% in budget execution.

4. Publicity (optional)

Add any links to blog posts, new stories, or pictures about your project.

We are sharing the course's graphic concept. Below you will find the logo, icons that complement the modules and an example of how would the artwork's application in the e-book design and in some components of the call for participation, which are part of the communication strategy.
